

We are about to begin a new search for a Chief Medical Officer for a private company which is positioned to have an impact on the diagnostic process and to improve health care. The company is Premerus, a division of MedSolutions. Premerus (www.PREMERUS.com <<http://www.PREMERUS.com>>) has been in existence for five years and offers a system to utilize specialty radiology imaging as a way to improve diagnoses and patient care. It provides this service to prepaid plans and employer groups.

We seek candidates for the CMO position who are experienced physician executives with leadership abilities and a desire to participate in an exciting venture. In that Premerus is a start up company, there are risks involved as well as ambiguity. However, this is a challenge that many physicians seek, an opportunity to make a difference.

I wanted to let you know about this new search, because it is a little different from our routine search activities. If you or someone you know has an interest in learning more, please visit our website at www.physicianexecutive.com <<http://www.physicianexecutive.com>> , where you may request a comprehensive job description.

Sincerely,

Leslie Thornton
