The Stanford University School of Medicine is initiating a search for the position of Professor and Chair of the Department of Dermatology.

Recognized as one of the world's leading research and teaching institutions, Stanford University is located in Silicon Valley, the heart of the Bay Area Bioscience community. The School of Medicine is situated adjacent to the Schools of Humanities and Sciences, Engineering, Law, Education and Business as well as internationally-renowned adult and pediatric hospitals (Stanford Hospital & Clinics and the Lucile Packard Children's Hospital).
