

Chief of Cardiology and Co-Director of Montefiore-Einstein Heart Center

Albert Einstein College of Medicine and Montefiore Medical Center seek an outstanding board-certified Cardiologist to serve as the Chief of Cardiology and Co-Director of Montefiore-Einstein Heart Center.

This is an exciting opportunity for the ideal candidate to accelerate the clinical growth and research of the Cardiology Division. This physician leader will guide the strategy for cardiovascular services at Einstein and Montefiore while ensuring the highest quality in research, community-oriented care and disciplined financial management. He/she will expand core programs, recruit faculty and will oversee the fellowship program.

Montefiore Medical Center is the University Hospital and Academic Medical Center for the Albert Einstein College of Medicine. With 1,491 inpatient beds, 16,000 employees and nearly 2,600 physicians on staff, the Medical Center is an integrated healthcare delivery system with four hospital sites.

Montefiore-Einstein Heart Center is one of the nation's elite cardiac care facilities. The Division of Cardiology is a core component of the Heart Center, which combines the expertise of Cardiology and Cardiovascular Surgery into a premier Center of Excellence. The Division has 50 full-time faculty, ~50 voluntary faculty and 34 cardiology fellows. The organization is committed to the growth of the Cardiology Program

The ideal candidate will be a board certified cardiologist who possesses exceptional administrative and program development skills and who has successfully contributed to the growth of a clinical and clinical research enterprise. She/He should be eligible for an appointment as Professor at Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

Spencer Stuart has been retained to assist with this important recruitment. Spencer Stuart and the Search Committee respect the importance of maintaining confidentiality. Letters of application, with curriculum vitae, and letters of nominations should be submitted by e-mail to: Lmedoff@spencerstuart.com.